Lions Frolic To Pay Fines To Sufferers

Proceeds Of "Kitty" For Day Go To Red Cross

Placerville Lions threw down the bars at their meeting Tuesday noon and "raised the merry old ned" after the meeting opened with the agreement that the fines for the day would go to the Red Cross fund for the relief of eastern flood victims.

The Chief Ned Raiser of the day was L. J. Anderson, head of the "rough-neck table" when it was the "rough-neck table."

Deputy Chief Ned Raiser was Thomas Maul who was closely followed by the entire den.

The result was that the tail-twister counted out something over $55 in fines for the day, all of which goes to flood relief.

Entertainment for the meeting was by the Harmonica Band of the Placerville grammar school, directed by Miss Laura Ball. The Lions were very much surprised to know that the pupils have progressed so well in their organization.

Reports on the mid-winter officers' conference at Fresno last week-end were given by Lions Palmer, Larsen, Maul, Mart and Barker. Chief interest centered in a recommendation to be made to the general convention to have five district governors in the Fourth District rather than only one as at present.

Under this proposal the Fourth District would be split into five zones, the Placerville club being in Zone A, in which there are 26 clubs with 980 members. These are in Donner, Buttes and Sierra Nevada Councils.

J. R. Johnson, entertainment chairman for February, reported something scheduled for every meeting, leading off with a Boy Scout meeting on February 2. The February 9th meeting will be a ladies' night.

T. B. TESTING OF SCHOOL PUPILS TO BE OUTLINED

Parents of school children of the county are being asked to attend a public meeting to be held at the high school on the evening of February 18, at which the program for tuberculin testing of the county's school children will be outlined.

The proposed test will be under the auspices of the El Dorado County Tuberculosis Association and will be without charge. Doctors and nurses will contribute their services and materials will be paid for by the association out of the proceeds of the recent Christmas Seal Sale in the county.

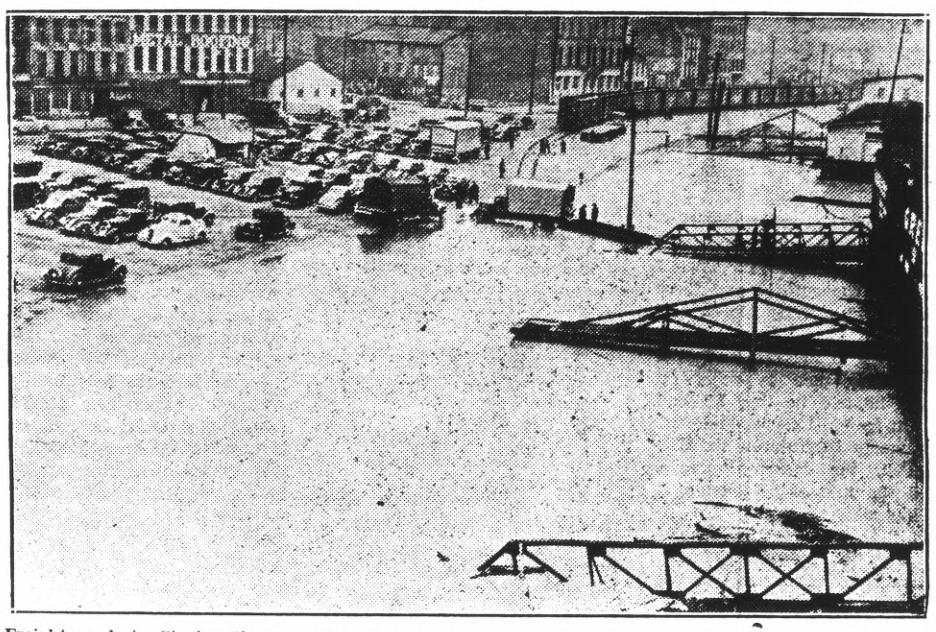

It is hoped that testing can be started about March 15 and that all high school pupils and all seventh and eighth grade pupils of the county, as well as their teachers, may be tested.

Dr. A. A. McKinnon will introduce Miss Woodward, of the State Tuberculosis Association, to the February 18 meeting and she will explain in detail the proposed test. It is hoped all parents will attend the meeting for their own information.

Additional features on the program will include selections by the high school orchestra and the showing of three reels of motion pictures on the general subject of the evening.

Birth of a son, Donnie Charles Lindsay to Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Lindsay of Placerville, on January 20, is recorded in a certificate filed Wednesday with the county recorder.

Evacuation of Louisville as the rising Ohio River had already swept into approximately 100 homes. Louisville is without electric power. A large area of the city is under water. Floating gasoline from submerged storage tanks has resulted in fires and danger of others.

Placerville Members Going To Georgetown

Members of Marguerite Parlor No. 12, N.D.G.W., and Placerville Parlor No. 9, N.S.G.W., have made plans to go to Georgetown on Wednesday evening to attend a joint meeting of the parlors of the order at that place, for the installation of officers. Henrietta Hume, district deputy president, will seat officers for the N.D.G.W., and Harold Duden, district deputy president, will be the installing officer for the N.S.G.W.

Ranger R. C. M. Berriman was in town from Georgetown ranger station on Wednesday.

Relief Fund Grows: Need To Continue

"We will need all the money you can send."

This is the substance of a message received Tuesday by M. T. Kelly, Red Cross chapter chairman, from Cary T. Grayson, national chairman of the Red Cross.

Contributions up to Wednesday noon were in excess of $150, Mr. Kelly reported.

Persons desiring to contribute may leave their offerings at the Kelly Grocery, at the Bank of America, or with Mrs. Elizabeth Sayers or any officer of the Red Cross chapter.

Washington Birthday Function Is Planned

The Garden section of the Shakespeare Club met Tuesday and an interesting paper on trees was read and discussed by Mrs. J. Nelson, chairman. Plans were formulated for a dinner and evening entertainment to be held at the clubhouse Washington's birthday, February 22. The proceeds of this dinner will go toward fencing in and planting a garden on the property anjoining the railroad track. The next regular business meeting of the club will be held Tuesday, February 2nd.

NEW DIRECTOR IN PRODUCTION CREDIT BOARD

At the annual meeting of stockholders of the Sacramento Production Credit Association, held January 15, J. J. Callison, Penryn, Placer County, was elected a director of the association for a period of three years to take the place of P. L. Taylor of Loomis, retiring director. He was also chosen by the directors to serve on the executive committee.

A. E. Greene, Courtland, Sacramento County, was elected director to take the place of Fred L. King, retiring director.

The following members now constitute the board: L. W. Veerkamp, president, Placerville; W. H. Williamson, vice-president, Mills; R. J. Coggeshall, director, Walnut Grove; J. J. Callison, director, Penryn; A. E. Greene, director, Courtland.

Bear Creek Man To Be Buried Saturday

The funeral services for Arthur E. Patterson of Bear Creek, who died Monday night at a Placerville hospital, will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Methodist church at Georgetown. Burial will be in the cemetery at Georgetown where Mr. Patterson's parents, his two brothers and a sister are buried.

Carl Tidd was in town Tuesday from Springvale section.

1,000,000 Homeless As Authenticated Deaths In 11 States Reach 113

150,000 Square Miles May Be Evacuated By Army Order

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The war department today, after consultation with President Roosevelt, decided to evacuate nearly half million persons in low lying ground for 50 miles on either side of the Mississippi River between Cairo, Ill., and New Orleans.

Anticipating a much more serious flood along the lower Mississippi than is now raging along the Ohio River, army engineers and the high command of the war department began making preparations for shifting the entire population of this strip 100 miles wide and 1500 miles long to higher ground.

Thousands of railroad cars of all description are being concentrated in the area and the war department officials estimate 35,000 trucks will be required to move the people to safety.

Engineers had not calculated the number of people who will have to be moved.

Army engineers will establish headquarters at Jackson, Miss., to direct the entire evacuation movement.

The weather bureau forecast rain or snow followed by a cold wave for the flooded Ohio Valley within the next 36 hours, but said flood waters had reached their peak north of Cairo.

The Ohio River was falling from Pittsburgh to Louisville. It was rising slowly at Evansville, Ind., and was stationary at Cairo, the weather bureau reported.

The river likely will remain stationary below Louisville until late tonight or tomorrow. Below Cairo the river will continue to rise for several days.

Although still in the tentative stage, the evacuation plan as outlined would be executed piece meal as breaks in the levee occur or as army engineers watching the Mississippi decided that a serious break is inevitable.

Disease, Fire, Famine Menace Stricken Refugees

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Admiral Cary T. Grayson, chairman of the Red Cross, estimated today that more than 1,000,000 persons are homeless and in need of relief as a result of mid-Western floods.

He said the Red Cross so far has received $1,222,000 in his plea for $10,000,000 in public contributions.

By UNITED PRESS

The crest of the Ohio River bore down on the Mississippi today, increasing the number of refugees along its 1800 mile front to nearly 850,000 and piling up what U. S. army engineers predicted would be a record-smashing flood from Cairo, Ill., to the Gulf of Mexico.

The authenticated death toll rose to 113 as the triple scourges of disease, fire and famine grew hourly more menacing in hundreds of inundated communities in 11 states of the Middlewest and Mid-South.

At Cairo where the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers merge, 4000 men erected a three-foot bulkhead atop the 60-foot flood wall which protects the city. The town's 10,000 women and children were removed at the order of Mayor August Bode, but the men stayed behind to work.

Army engineers blasted another spillway in the Mississippi levee below Cairo, but the estimated crest of 62 to 65 feet, if it comes, would more than offset the slight relief of flood pressure thus afforded.

The Ohio Valley continued in what President Roosevelt called an "emergency stage."

Cincinnati, already victim of a $2,000,000 fire became a potential fire trap as gasoline and oil, liberated from tanks undermined by the flood, spread an ever thickening film on the waters. Water pressure was insufficient to fight a major blaze except near the river front where emergency pumps were set up.

Drinking water was transported by tank truck to concentration points, but authorities kept their movements secret to prevent repetition of yesterday's incident when thirsty refugees virtually mobbed the trucks.

Louisville, its local and military police force augmented by 600 regular army troops, initiated a campaign of forceful prevention of looting and smoking. Pools of oil floating through the downtown and residential districts created a fire hazard which authorities feared might at any moment start.

Child Specialist In City On Monday

Dr. Emmeline Banks, child specialist of the state health board, will be in Placerville at the grammar school on Monday, all day, beginning at 9:30 in the morning.

Mothers of small children in the district who wish to consult with her should telephone the grammar school nurse at the school building and arrange an appointment.

Appointments are not mandatory but it is felt that this will make it possible for Dr. Banks to consult with more mothers than would be possible upon a "hit and miss" plan.

ASSEMBLYMAN JESSE M. MAYO REVIEWS LEGISLATIVE WORK

Jesse M. Mayo, Calaveras County publisher and state assemblyman, representing the Sixth Assembly District, of which El Dorado County is a part, returned home last Saturday from the first session of the state legislature which lasted three weeks before recessing until March for the constitutional recess. During the five-week recess he will make an effort to visit all sections of his district which includes ten counties, for the purpose of contacting local citizens, concerning legislative matters to be voted upon at the long session, beginning March 1.

In a statement outlining his plans for a legislative program at this session. Assemblyman Mayo stated that he was offering little in the way of new legislation at this time, but felt that he would be more effective from a stand-point of service to his own district by reserving his energy and time to combating proposed legislation aimed a crippling some of the industries of the mountain counties, particularly legislation introduced which would prove disastrous to gold mining, lumbering and the livestock industries.

"There are probably more than 100 bills introduced which are aimed directly at the people of the smaller counties," stated Mayo. "Just to review a few, there is the proposition of a state severance tax on gold, silver, timber and non-metallic minerls up again this year. The proposed rates would completely paralyze these industries.

"Then there are bills before the legislature which would prohibit by law certain types of gold mining, such as gold dredging and dragline operations. Several bills aimed at steam-pollution, are so drastic that it would be possible to close a mine down completely if a bucket of debris accidentally was dumped into a stream," stated the assemblyman.

Other proposed laws would force even the smallest county to set up an elaborate meat inspection service at a cost of thousand of dollars to the taxpayers and livestock men of the mountain counties. Every time a farmer desired to sell a head of livestock he would have to run the gauntlet of a horde of inspectors.

Legislation sponsored by certain interests of the Bay region would be deprived the rural counties of their just share of the gasoline tax money by diverting large sums to finance the bonds of the Bay bridge and the purchase of more toll bridges.

"I feel," said Mayo, "that with so many proposals aimed at the very heart of the future success of the smaller counties, I should join with the state senators from my district in opposing these proposals, rather than offer a long list of new legislation at this time, and to practically devote my entire time in that direction."

Among the important issues facing the people of the smaller counties is the constant efforts of the larger centers to concentrate and centralize government in the state capitol, believes Mayo. "For several years there has been a constant effort to more and more centralize government into the hands of state bureaus and commissions and to deprive the counties of self-government, under the guise of economy," continued Mayo, "when as a matter of truth, every test has shown that the larger the unit of government, the more expensive it is. As an illustration, Los Angeles County pays out $50,000 more in judges' salaries annually, than do 45 Northern California counties put together, yet, at the last session a bill was introduced to deprive all counties under 25,000 population of their local superior courts."

The only bills introduced so far at this session by Mayo are A. B. Nos. 1 and 2, in which he is joined by a group of assemblymen as co-authors. These bills both deal with the state old-age pensions law. A. B. No. 1 would raise the present amount from $35 per month to $50, and No. 2, would leave the rate at $35 and abolish all deductions which are now permissable. It would also allow persons receiving the pension to earn as much as $15 per month from other sources before any deductions would be made.

PARADE OF SPORTS

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Writer)

SARASOTA, Fla. (UP)—Jimmy Wilson, the hard-bitten gentleman whose hair is graying around the edges, the sides, and on top from managing the Philadelphia Phillies, had a dream so glorious the other night that he has been going to bed at sundown ever since in an effort to recapture it.

"It still makes me feel good just to think about that dream," Jimmy told me as we sat around a table and listened to Nick Altrock, Jack Russell, Paul Waner, Wes Ferrell, and half a dozen other baseball players swap lies.

"It went something like this. It was opening day of spring practice this year and when I walked on the field I saw a strange team out there, dressed in the Phillies suits. Gabby Hartnett was catching and Dizzy Dean was pitching. Gus Mancuso was warming up Carl Hubbell over by the dugout. Camilli was on first, Billy Herman on second, Bill Jurges at short, and Pepper Martin was standing on third taking a chew of tobacco. Then I looked out in the outfield and there stood Joe Medwick, Terry Moore, and Mel Ott.

"I walked up to Hartnett and said, 'Gabby, what the hell is going on here?' And he told he they all had been bought by Philadelphia and that I was to manage them during the 1937 season. Well, the dream skipped a while and the next thing I knew it was opening day. And how do you think we opened? With a doubleheader against the Cards and Giants. That was the sweetest part of the dream—getting a crack at the two clubs who have been beating out the Phillis' brains year after year. Did we knock hell out of 'em! We beat the Cards something like 17 to 4, and the Giants by 11 runs.

"Then came another very delightful part of the dream. Soon as the games were over I walked over to Terry and Frisch, and with a kind smile on my face, wished 'em better luck next time. That's what Bill and Frank have been saying to me for years, and they never have meant any of it any more than I did in the dream."

His face aglow with the sheer ectesy of managing such a club, even in a dream, and knocking off the big boys who have been rubbing his nose in home plate for so long, Wilson took another pull on his beer and went on.

"Yes sir, I'd like to see Terry, and Frisch, and Traynor and Grimm with a tail-end ball club. They are always crying hard times, even when they got a loaf of bread under their arms. Take that Grimm, for example. Last year Chicago needs a pitcher so what does Charley do but just reach out and buy Curt Davis, just about all I got. And that Frisch. Always yelling he'd like to get rid of Dizzy Dean. I just hope he does, because I want to see what he'll do without him. He'll head right down for us. A guy who wants to get rid of a pitcher who can win 30 games—that is, if he's handled right—must be nuts in any language. I'd like to have Dizzy just on odd Wednesdays. I wouldn't care how he acted. He could live in a squirrel cage and wear evening clothes all day, just so long as he'd win those ball games for me."

At this point Mr. Wilson rounded the conversational second base and headed for home. But that's another story for another day.

GAS REVUNES IN YEAR SET STATE RECORD

SACRAMENTO— California motorists used more gasoline in 1936 than ever before in the history of the state.

Increased use of motor vehicle transportation at an unprecedented rate shot December sales of gasoline up 20.02 per cent to bring the annual total income from the 3-cent tax to a new record of $48,286,080.92, it was announced by Fred E. Stewart, member of the State Board of Equalization which assesses the tax.

"This steady and substantial gain in the distribution of gasoline is particularly significant as a barometer of improving economic conditions," Stewart said.

"The fact a total has been reached which is far in excess of distributions made during the so-called "boom" times is indicative of the economic strides taken by California recently."

Records of the board show how gasoline distribution has increased. The tax collections for the past 13 years included the following:

Nineteen twenty-four, $14,404,479.18; 1925, $16,049,612.31; 1926, $17,936,815.46 1927, $24,443,137.25; 1928, $32,711,674.41; 1929, $37,224,107.91; 1930, $39,666,028.54; 1931, $41,625,893.24; 1932, $40,171,338.87; 1933, $39,307,352.99; 1934, $39,625,065.33; 1935, $44,021,668.86; 1936, $48,286,080.92.

Ford Adds New Light Stake Unit

NEWEST in the line of Ford V-8 commercial cars is the 112-inch stake shown above. It was designed to fill a widespread demand among farmers and business men for a light weight unit of this type. As its name indicates, it utilizes the 112-inch commercial car chassis, and provides a load space 80 inches long, 62 inches wide and 29½ inches high. Removal of the stakes converts it into a platform unit. Its floor is protected by steel skid-strips and a steel rubrail. The cab is of welded all-steel construction with a steel roof. The unit is available with either the improved 85 horsepower V-8 engine for heavier jobs or the new 60 horsepower V-8 engine for light duty. It is fitted with the new Ford "easy-action" safety brakes.

SOIL BUILDING PAYMENT RATE FOR 1937 PROGRAM ARE GIVEN

The rates of payments which California farmers may earn for soil-building and range-building practices in the 1937 AAA Agricultural Conservation Program were announced today by Director B. H. Crocheron of the California Agricultural Extension Service, following formal approval of these rates by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace.

The payments to be made for these practices are contingent upon a specific appropriation by Congress of the amount authorized for 1937, which is $500,000,000.

The practices which have been approved were worked out in Washington following recommendations made in California last fall and meetings held in Washington, D. C., this winter which were attended by M. S. Meeker of Kerman, member of the State Agricultural Conservation Committee, and W. R. Ralston of the California State Agricultural Extension Service.

The 1937 program emphasizes, the soil-building part of the program more than did the 1936 program, Mr. Crocheron says, through more liberal provision forestablishing the soil-building allowance for each farm. The amount which any farmer can earn by these soil-building practices depends upon the amount of practices performed and the rate for each. In no case, can the total amount earned for soil-building practices be larger than the soil-building allowance for the farm. These payments are in addition ot the payments for diversion which farmers may earn

In general farms may earn payments for the planting of legumes and grasses, and for such practices as restoration of cropland to native grasses, planting windbreaks, novious weed control, renovation of orchard lands, plowing under of green manure crops, the planting of sod pieces, reseeding of native perennial grasses on non-crop pasturel and, and contour listing.

An important provision is that no practices shall be eligible for payment unless they are such as are determined by the State Agricultural Conservation Committee to be good farming practice for the locality.

The range practices for which stockmen may earn payments include development of springs and seeps, the digging of pits and reservoirs, digging wells, fire guards, water spreading, reseeding, deferred grazing, and range fencing.

PERENNIAL LEGUMES: $4 an acre for seeding and obtaining a good stand of perennial legumes including alfalfa, ladino, and others as may be approved if no nurse crop is harvested for grain or hay; otherwise, $2.50 an acre for seeding.

BIENNIAL LEGUMES (except sweet clover): $3 an acre for seeding and obtaining a good stand of a biennial legume such as red clover, alsike clover, mamoth clover, and others which may be approved, if no nurse crop is harvested for grain or hay; otherwise, $2 an acre for seeding.

PERENNIAL GRASSES: $3.50 an acre for seeding and obtaining a good stand of approved perennial grasses including Harding, orchard, brome, dallis, wheat grasses (except crested wheat grass), Rhodes, rye grasses, Reed's canary, timothy, redtop, meadow fescue, and others which may be approved, if no nurse crop is harvested as grain or hay; otherwise $2 an acre for seeding.

GRASS MIXTURES: $3.50 an acre for seeding and obtaining a good stand of mixtures of perennial and biennial legumes and grasses if no nurse crop is harveseted for grain or hay; otherwise, $2 an acre for seeding.

SWEET CLOVER: $2 an acre for seeding and obtaining a good stand of sweet clovers and such other annual legumes as may me approved, if no nurse crop is harvested for grain or hay; otherwise, $1 an acre for seeding.

Crested Wheat Grass: $3 an acre for seeding crested wheat grass.

Detailed specifications have been developed for most of the following soil-building practices. Full explanation of these specifications will be available from farm advisors in the near future.

PERENNIAL NOXIOUS WEED CONTROL: $5 an acre for periodic cultivation, $5 an acre for flooding, and $10 an acre for chemical treatment, including oil treatment, of perennial noxious weeds on projects approved in advance by the county committee.

PLANTING WINDBREAKS: $10 an acre for planting and having at the time performance is checked at least 400 living trees per acre, such planting projects to have advance approval of the county committee.

GREEN MANURE AND COVER CROPS: $2 an acre for growing and plowing under a substantial growth of winter cover crops; $2 an acre for growing and plowing under summer cover crops; other rates for special circumstances and areas.

RENOVATION OF ORCHARD LANDS: $5 an acre for renovating land from which fruit and nut trees have been removed, including regrading, and establishment of perennial grasses or legumes on irrigated land; $4 an acre for same practice on land formerly in specified types of bush and small fruits and in vineyards.

PLANTING SOD PIECES: $4 an acre for planting sod pieces of approved perennial grasses in 1937.

ADDING ORGANIC MATTER IN ORCHARDS AND VINEYARDS: 75 cents a ton for working leguminous straw into the soil in orchards and vineyards, payment for this practice not to exceed $3.75 per acre; 50 cents a ten for non-leguminous straw worked into the soil, payment for this practice not to exceed $2.50 per acre.

RESEEDING NON-CROP PASTURE LAND: 15 cents per pound of native perennial grass seed sown, up to $1.50 per acre.

RESTORATION OF LAND TO NATIVE GRASSES: 25 cents an acre for restoration of non-irrigated cropland to native vegetation by natural reseeding.

TERRACING: 40 cents per 100 feet of terracing, when projects are approved in advance by the county committee.

A condition of payment for range-building practices is that they be approved in advance by the county committee and that they be performed according to approved specifications. Stockmen may obtain these detailed specifications from county committees when submitting projects. The following practices are approved for California:

DEVELOPMENT OF SPRINGS AND SEEPS: $50 per spring or seep.

CONSTRUCTION OF EARTHEN PITS OR RESERVOIRS: 15 cents per cubic yard or fill or excavation.

DIGGING OR DRILLING WELLS: $1 per linear foot.

RANGE FENCING: 30 cents a rod.

RESEEDING: 15 cents per pound of seed sown in reseeding depleted range land in northern coast counties with good seed of adapted varieties of perennial grasses, up to $1.50 an acre.

DEFERRED GRAZING TO RESTORE NATIVE VEGETATION: 35 cents per animal unit for each full month of deferred grazing for the purpose of restoring native vegetation, provided the operator does not permit his remaining rangeland to be overgrazed.

FIRE GUARDS: 4 cents per 100 linear feet for plowing fire guards; 12 cents per 100 linear feet for constructing fire guards by clearing away brush.

The range-building payments which each stockmen may earn will depend upon the range-building allowance for the ranch which is determined at the rate of $1.50 per animal unit for the grazing capacity of the range land on the ranch. (An animal unit is one cow, or one horse, or five sheep or five goats).

Mortgage Moratorium Awaiting Signature

SACRAMENTO (UP)—Amendment of the 1935 mortgage and trust deed moratorium act, one of the major accomplishments of the 52nd legislature's first half session, today awaits only the signature of the governor to make it legal.

Passed shortly before the constitutional racess began, the amended bill extends to May 15 the former bill providing for relief of property debtors. The measure also covers chattels "incident to the business."

R. J. Loomis, district manager for the F. F. Goodrich Company, who has announced the appointment of Cannon Chevrolet Company as distributor of Goodrich products in Placerville and El Dorado County.

CANNON NAMED FOR GOODRICH

R. J. Loomis, district manager for The B. F. Goodrich Company of San Francisco, yesterday announced the appointment of the Cannon Chevrolet Company of Placerville as a distributor for Goodrich products in El Dorado County.

A complete stock of Goodrich tires, tubes and accessories is now in stock. Lloyd Cannon is well versed in the tire business, having been identified with it in his previous location as a Pontiac dealer in San Bernardino before coming to Placerville some six months ago. The Goodrich Company, Mr. Loomis said, is decidedly pleased with the fact that Mr. Cannon has selected the Goodrich franchise after several weeks of investigation, because he felt it offered him the best range of products and merchandising to most advantageously serve the needs of the people in his territory.

Goodrich Safety Silvertown tires are three times safer from blowouts at high speed because of their patented "Golden Ply" construction. The "Golden Ply" Silvertown was built for the excessive demands of a progressive motoring nation. Into the Golden Ply was built resistance to blowouts at high speed—resistance to the devastating heat caused by internal friction brought about by constant flexing of the tire carcass. The Golden Ply has been called the outstanding titre development of the era.

Motorists of El Dorado County are invited to visit the Cannon Chevrolet Company and to enroll in the Goodrich Silvertown Safety League. All members of the Silvertown Safety League receive a red crystal reflector to put on the rear of their car, free. This reflector functions as a rear light in case of stop-light trouble.

Beverage Tax Gains 18 Pct. During Year

SACRAMENTO—Popularity of beer and wine continued to increase in 1936, particularly the products of California's own breweries and vineyards.

Richard E. Collins, chairman of the State Board of Equalization, announced that collections from the tax on beer and wine amount to $2,018,934.23 for the year, an increase of 18.81 per cent over the previous 12-month period.

Eagles Enjoy Call On Oak Park Aerie

Members of Placerville Aerie No. 889 were at Oak Park Tuesday night, paying a social call to the aerie at that place. The Oak Park aerie initiated six candidates and had a very interesting program featuring a talk by Sergeant Ed Cox of the Sacramento Police Department, on "Narcotics." Refreshments and a social time closed the meeting.

Three Schools In County Are Closed

Although Smith Flat school resumed work Wednesday morning, there are still three schools in the county closed. These are at Diamond Springs, Garden Valley and in Union District.

Union District, Superintendent Fitzgerald reports, has been closed since last week, owing to failure of its water system.

Masonic Lodge To Install Thursday

The officers of El Dorado Lodge No. 26, F. & A. M., of Placerville, will be installed at a meeting of the order on Thursday night at the Masonic temple.

The installation will follow a 6:30 o'clock dinner at which members of El Dorado lodge will welcome visiting brethren.
